All Summer Fashion Stocks Can't Go Out Too Fast To Please Us

Less Merchandise the Better As Season-End Approaches

A good housewife keeps her house in order and every Spring and Fall gives it an overhauling, so drastic that it would take a magnifying glass to find a speck of dirt.

So with the merchant—

All seasonal and fashion goods must go with the season for which it is bought.

Special sales are resorted to clear them away.

Right now 'tis well to keep in mind the old saying—"It is not what you pay but what you get for what you pay," that counts.

IN August women everywhere are looking for sharp reductions in clothes.

They want little dresses by the half dozen to finish out the season, or else to wear in the house well into the Winter.

Plenty of jush such dresses can now be had in the Women's Fashion Salons at prices which are often half (or even less) of those asked in the early season.

NEW FASHIONS

A tailored suit, Paris inspired, of Belgium blue wool velour with real mole full trimming on the collar, cuffs, and at the belted waist. Fashion promises that fur will have even greater vogue this year than last.

A Wooltex model showing the correct type of Autumn street suit—a blue and brown velour check with the straightest of straight lines, pleated and belted. Fullness without flare skirt.

Evening gown of Maize Princess Satin, large design embroidered in silver and gold threads, showing the new draped skirt; wonderful!—(Fashion Salons, Second Floor.)

We are quite sure Elmo Creams and Powders will be a favorite with many women—judging by the interest manifested and sale of the various items.

Plans are under way at this group of houses in the Antioch district to pipe gas over from Colfax. The pipes would run back over the hill and be almost straight. The river turns in a big bend there.

The course has only been completed a few weeks, this being the first race over the highway. The best time made was eighteen minutes.

In order to reach the summit by sunrise one must leave Manitou at the base of the peak at 2:30 a. m. on a special car over the renowned cog road a distance of nine miles with a maximum grade of twenty-five per cent or 844 feet to the mile. The elevation is 14,107 feet.

tries won't be conserved by indulging in good wishes around the club table. We have got to take account of the lessons learned on the other side and apply them. We have got to consider honest business with the success and pride that it deserves and we have got fearlessly to condemn abuses.

National Unity Needed. "We have got the basis for success. What we now need is the motive power of unswerving loyalty and a real consciousness of national unity which will fill us with a dominant sense of patriotic loyalty to the United States."

"With that we want a conception of real government. We want to be well prepared, well organized commercially and industrially. We have got to match organization with organization, preparedness abroad with preparedness at home in all things."

In opening his address, Mr. Hughes declared that, while he was speaking to the Portland Advertising Club, he was a member of the "Republican Advertising Club."

Explains Former Silence. "A short time ago, I was long on silence and short on talk; now I am long on talk and short on silence. The reason is that I was mandamused in Oregon."

Mr. Hughes's reference to the action of Oregon Republicans in instructing their delegates to the Chicago convention for him was greeted with applause.

"I was intent on observing the obvious proprieties of the position I held," he said. "It was a place of great distinction and power in which I was content to remain. When suggestions came from Oregon that I should run in your primary, I was very curt in refusing. I had no desire to run; I wanted to remain alone."

"But they reckon all who leave Oregon out. You listened and did what you pleased, and for the first time in the history of the country a state court mandamus a federal judge."

In speaking of the preparedness, Mr. Hughes said:

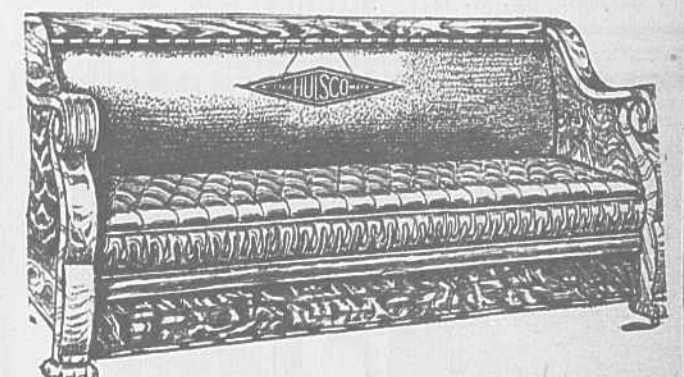

I desire to see the United States holding its head erect among the peoples of the earth, not trembling, not blustering, but ready for any emergency. We have in this country opportunities that dazzle the imagination.
